

- Participating shareholders should instruct their broker to tender their Common Stock well before the expiration time of 11:59 p.m. EST on May 16, 2022, to give their broker enough time to tender their Common Stock.
- Shares that were tendered prior to May 2, 2022, may need to be re-tendered following the amendment.

IRVING, Texas, May 12, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Exela Technologies, Inc. ("Exela" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: XELA) announced today that the previously announced exchange offer is still open. The Company understands that some investors may have been given contrary information by their broker. The offer was amended to provide that each 20 share increment of common stock may be exchanged for 1 share of Series B Preferred Stock with a $25 per share liquidation preference, and that the Company intends to issue a dividend of Tandem Voting Stock with respect to the Series B Preferred Stock following the completion of the offering.

Shares that were tendered prior to May 2, 2022, may need to be re-tendered following the amendment. Accordingly, if you are a shareholder who tendered shares prior to May 2, 2022 and did not re-tender after May 2, 2022, you will need to tender again if you want to participate in the offer. Holders of the Series B Preferred Stock do not need to take any action. Holders of common shares should contact their brokers for instructions to participate in the offer.

The Company's press release regarding the amended offer, can be found here: <https://investors.exelatech.com/news-releases/news-release-details/exela-technologies-announces-amendment-pending-exchange-offer-0>
